

Figure 1. (a): Corneal epithelial defects were stained with fluorescein solution and macroscopic photographs were taken under a blue filter. Green areas were considered the corneal epithelium defect area. The area ratio of the green areas (b) to the entire cornea (c) surrounded by the yellow line was calculated using Fiji software.