

Supplementary Figure 1. Flow chart of the nested validation study in the MINISTOP trial.

* As reported in the methods section, parents coming back for the follow-up measurement at 12 months after baseline were asked to participate in this nested validation study in the order they came back to the measurement. A total of 45 parents were asked to participate to get the required 40 parent and child dyads. These parent and child dyads were not different with regards to baseline characteristics from the whole trial (n=315) [24,25].