

Table S2. Scoping Review Psychometric Properties

Process	Property	Definition
Validity	Face	The relevance and readability of the instrument for the target population [15].
	Content	The ability of the instrument in capturing latent variables/main constructs [52].
	Construct	The extent to which the measurement accomplishes the purpose of which it is intended. The relationship between the latent variable and construct of interest [52].
Reliability	Internal consistency	The relatedness of items in instruments to each other in measuring main constructs.
	Repeatability	The ability of instrument scores to be reproduced by same users over a set period where conditions have not changed, though test re-test process.