

The following figure shows various forms of family communal spaces which are located adjacent to the beach/highest tide line and the various activities that take place in it and their users

Left figure, a mother working in the family communal room preparing styrofoam for fish containers for her husband who is going to sea

Left figure, family (husband, wife and other family members) relax and interact. Right figure, big family gathering, relaxing, working, feasting on fish

Right figure, teenagers and children relaxing, interacting, and playing games

Teenagers and children relax, interact and play

Family feasting on fish while interacting

On the right figure, women work, interact and while controlling children and the environment. Left figure of mothers relaxing, interacting, and controlling the environment

Family groups relax, interact, control family and environment

Children playing

Family groups relax, interact, control family and environment

Family groups relax, interact, control family and environment

Family groups relax, interact, control family and environment

Fishermen are taking a nap

Form of family communal space that is given a roof for protection from heat and rain