

Figure S1. Concentration of soil carbohydrate (extracted with sulfuric acid) affected by the application of mineral biochar under drought stress. Data are shown as mean \pm S.E.M, and different letters denote statistically significant differences between experimental groups at the $p < 0.05$ level according to two-way ANOVA with Šidák multiple comparison test.