

Figure S1. OCT structural image (x-z) scans with six regions of interest (ROI) indicated by rectangles. Each rectangle corresponds to 512 x 25 pixels. The average contrast of the ROIs was used to calculate the average across six seed to give the grand average.