

Supplementary Figure S1. The representative bacterial genera associated with different heteropteran families identified based on linear discriminant analysis effect size (LEfSe). No representative bacterial genus of Notonectidae was determined due to the small specimen number.