Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

It is necessary to highlight the involvement of interleukins in the development and treatment of cancer, especially after the spectacular advances in immunotherapy and new cell therapies. It is also important to delve into the mechanisms of action and improvement of these treatments and the possible relationship with the interleukin family.

Cancers is an international online journal addressing both clinical and basic science issues related to cancer research. The journal is publishing in Open Access format, which will certainly evolve to ensure that the journal takes full advantage of the rapidly changing world of information and knowledge dissemination. It publishes high-quality clinical, translational, and basic science research on cancer prevention, initiation, progression, and treatment, as well as other related topics, particularly to capture the most seminal studies in the rapidly growing area of immunology, immunotherapy, and tumor microenvironment.
