Message from the Guest Editors

We are honored to introduce you a new Special Issue entitled “The Current Staging Systems of Tumor and Their Pitfalls” which is open for submissions now in Cancers.

Accurate staging of tumors is crucial to estimate prognosis and identify appropriate management options. The staging protocols, however, continue to evolve and are under constant revision and change, also due to advances in molecular oncology approaches. Moreover, current staging systems often present a number of pitfalls and controversial issues. We feel that it is time to discuss the current staging systems of several neoplasms and their pitfalls in a single, dedicated editorial initiative.

Both original research articles and reviews are welcome for consideration. Contributors are invited to express their own views and hypotheses, provided that they are supported by evidence or experimental data.

Cancers is an international online journal addressing both clinical and basic science issues related to cancer research. The journal is publishing in Open Access format, which will certainly evolve to ensure that the journal takes full advantage of the rapidly changing world of information and knowledge dissemination. It publishes high-quality clinical, translational, and basic science research on cancer prevention, initiation, progression, and treatment, as well as other related topics, particularly to capture the most seminal studies in the rapidly growing area of immunology, immunotherapy, and tumor microenvironment.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Oncology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Oncology)
