Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue will focus on how health professionals work between these limitations and opportunities through the COVID-19 pandemic; this to handle the pandemic and with the potential to develop healthcare and health professionals' practices in the future. This Special Issue of Healthcare seeks original research, case studies, debate articles, reflections, and reviews on practices and strategies of health professionals created or exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic. This can relate to: the development and adaptation of clinical guidelines; seeking new ways of working due to and related to the pandemic; clinical work with patients affected by COVID-19, relatives, and colleagues, etc.; experienced limitations in terms of existing knowledge and clinical routines, with more. These are only suggestions, which the current Special Issue is not limited to. All kind of studies about creative and innovative suggestions in line with the topic at stake are welcome.
