

International Journal of Environmental Research and Public Health

Dear Colleagues,

We are pleased to announce that the winner of the 2018 IJERPH Young Investigator Award is Dr. Bach Tran. Dr. Tran will receive an award of 2000 CHF, an offer to publish a paper free of charge without a fixed deadline in IJERPH, and an engraved plaque.

2018 IJERPH YOUNG INVESTIGATOR AWARD

WINNER

Dr. Bach Tran is an Associate Professor of Public Health at Hanoi Medical University and Johns Hopkins University. His research interests primarily focus on applying decision analytic modeling to inform the development and evaluation of health technologies and policies. His current work centers on determining cost-effective interventions, assessing health service innovations, and strengthening health systems. Dr. Tran received his Ph.D. degree in 2011 and worked as a postdoctoral research fellow (2012–2013) at the University of Alberta. Dr. Tran's track record of achievements is impressive for a young investigator at this stage of his career. So far, he has published more than 180 papers and has delivered over 50 invited presentations.

We would like to thank all the applicants in various fields of study for their participation and the Award Committee members for reviewing the numerous high-quality applications received.
