Message from the Guest Editors

The idea of sustainability, originated from the concept of sustainable development in 1980s, attracts tremendous amount of attention in the recent years. It has thus become an important factor in economic development, policy making, democracy advancement, etc. In academia, a growing body of works in economics, finance and business ethics has been developed and dedicated to further the understanding of sustainability in the business environment.

To promote the academic exploration of the contemporary issues related with sustainability, the International Journal of Financial Studies (IJFS) has devoted a Special Issue, "Sustainability and Corporate Financial Environment", to bringing together significant research works in finance and business areas. We seek strong papers from scholars in all fields of finance with sustainability related topics. The topics cover but are not restricted to: risk management, corporate social responsibility, socially responsible investment, accounting transparency, micro-financing and public finance management, sustainability in financial regulation and policy, emerging markets and human rights, Islamic finance.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

I'm thrilled to take the leadership reins of the International Journal of Financial Studies and welcome the opportunity to make it one of the vanguard open-source scientific journals in our field. I eagerly look forward to working with the journal editorial team in building upon the quality instilled by my predecessor to develop the title further and broaden the appeal to other new finance research areas while keeping our core a high-quality finance journal that serves and highly values the scientific community, readers and authors alike. IJFS aims to publish high-quality manuscripts in both theoretical and empirical finance spanning all the major research areas in the field. It aims to provide an outlet for original finance scholarly research that promotes interaction among finance scholars and practitioners and bridges the divide that can exist between them.
