Message from the Guest Editors

This Special Issue seeks to present the recent advances in GIS-based Renewable Energy Analysis. Authors are encouraged to submit original contributions, which may include simulation studies, empirical field experiments and survey-based approaches, answering to the related temporary research questions in the field. The target audience of this Special Issue includes researchers and practitioners in the field of Renewable Energy Sources and geographical analyses, due to its explicitly practical application aspects. Topics include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Renewable Energy Sources
- Geographic information systems
- Land use
- Energy demand
- Energy scenarios
- Energy planning
- Regional planning
- Behavioral research
- Climate induced migration
- Climate change and crop failure
- Geo-crowd sourced data
- Decision making
- Participatory approach
- Information management

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The ISPRS International Journal of Geo-Information invites you to submit research articles, reviews, and reports covering topics of the whole domain of geo-information. Although the journal was only founded in 2012, it has already achieved wide recognition in the scientific community. We are proud that since April 2015, our journal is indexed by the SCIE of the Web of Science. As Editor-in-Chief, I encourage you to consider IJGI for your scientific papers and would be pleased to welcome you as authors.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges \(APC\) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE \(Web of Science\), GeoRef, PubAg, dblp, Astrophysics Data System, Inspec, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Geography, Physical) / CiteScore - Q1 (Geography, Planning and Development)
