Further topics of the issue will be: a) pathomorphogenesis, metabolic pathways and clinical implications of hepatic accumulation of glycogen and polyglucosan bodies (PGb) in refeeding syndrome and parenteral nutrition; b) hepatocytic glycogen bodies in post-transplant livers; c) alleviation of polyglucosan disorders by enhancing the efficiency of degradation systems. These contributions are aimed to clarify whether PGb originates from a defect in the initiation of glycogen synthesis, and, if so, to what extent inactive or mutant glycogenin affects the concerted function of glycogen synthase and the branching enzyme, to generate PGb.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry & Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Inorganic Chemistry)
