Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

Research on development and phytohormones comprises of two intensively investigated, inseparable areas of plant biology. The approaches of developmental biology and genetics pointed out the specificity of hormonal pathways. Conversely, developmental biology benefited from broad methodological inputs used in hormonal research. This Special Issue aims to bring together inspiration from multiple research areas and promote the spreading of novel concepts used in different developmental systems and hormonal pathways.

This Special Issue also welcomes review articles. According to the scope of the Special Issue, they should promote interaction between developmental and hormonal approaches. The authors are encouraged to consult the editor(s) prior to their decision to contribute.

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry & Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Inorganic Chemistry)
