Message from the Guest Editor

Dear Colleagues,

Molecular ecology is a recent discipline concerned with the application of molecular and evolutionary biology to questions in ecology. Contributions in molecular ecology utilize DNA, gene expression data and quantitative traits for inference about ecological and evolutionary processes in the field.

The "Advances in Molecular Ecology" issue will consider studies of natural variation, demographic processes, molecular adaptation, population structure and phylogeography, environmental genomics, landscape genetics and biodiversity. Submission of theoretical studies using computer simulations and developing new analytical methods are also encouraged.

The International Journal of Molecular Sciences (IJMS, ISSN 1422-0067) is an open access journal, which was established in 2000. The journal aims to provide a forum for scholarly research on a range of topics, including biochemistry, molecular and cell biology, molecular biophysics, molecular medicine, and all aspects of molecular research in chemistry. IJMS publishes both original research and review articles, and regularly publishes special issues to highlight advances at the cutting edge of research. We invite you to read recent articles published in IJMS and consider publishing your next paper with us.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), PubMed, PMC, MEDLINE, Embase, CAPlus / SciFinder, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q1 (Biochemistry & Molecular Biology) / CiteScore - Q1 (Inorganic Chemistry)
