Message from the Guest Editors

Dear Colleagues,

This Special Issue aims to compile original research and review articles focused on enhancing patient safety and clinical quality improvement relevant to pregnancy and postpartum care. We welcome submissions on a wide variety of topics related to clinical quality and safety, including but not limited to:

- Medical error;
- Diagnostic error;
- Adverse events;
- Disclosure and reporting;
- Model for improvement;
- Implementation science;
- Health equity;
- Social drivers of health;
- Team building and communication;
- Care handoffs;
- Simulation and drills.

This Special Issue is particularly interested in articles that highlight clinical quality improvement projects and initiatives aimed at enhancing patient safety and quality within maternal–fetal medicine. Authors are encouraged to submit their research and findings related to these topics to contribute to the advancement of patient safety and quality.
