We are pleased to present the “ECM15 Best Paper Award” to “Ice Forecasting in the Next-Generation Great Lakes Operational Forecast System (GLOFS)” by Eric J. Anderson and colleagues.

ECM15 BEST PAPER AWARD 2018

WINNER

This paper demonstrates how new modeling capabilities can usher in a new era of Great Lakes ice forecasting, addressing an issue where millions of dollars and lives are at stake. Modeling enhancements, model performance, uncertainties, and potential future improvements are all clearly described. Reviewers have lauded the authors for their well-written prose and insightful graphics. Congratulations to all the authors of the first Best Paper of the ECM award!
