Advances in Soil and Water Sediment in Ecological Environment

Guest Editors:

Message from the Guest Editors

The formation of both soil and water sediments and the Dr. Gytautas Ignatavičius geochemical processes are greatly influenced not only by Dr. Stanisław Wołkowicz the environment and climatic conditions of the territories, but also by anthropogenic activities. Since both the soil Dr. Oskars Purmalis and the sediments of water bodies are the basis of many Dr. Jonas Satkūnas ecosystems, biodiversity suffers due to their contamination, the productivity of agricultural areas Dr. Vaidotas Valskys decreases, and the environment becomes dangerous for the health and well-being of people.

Deadline for manuscript submissions: closed (20 June 2023) The purpose of this Special Issue is to publish original highquality research papers, as well as review articles, which examine the latest advances in soil and water sediment research, and new analytical methods. Papers on regional case studies from anywhere in the world that present findings of general relevance are particularly encouraged.
