

literature

an Open Access Journal by MDPI

Things, Space, and Sensation in, around, and through Modern Japanese Literature in Print (circa 1910–1990)

Guest Editor:

Prof. Dr. Atsuko Sakaki

Department of East Asian Studies, Centre for Comparative Literature, Faculty of Arts and Sciences, University of Toronto,
Toronto, ON, Canada

Message from the Guest Editor

We welcome papers that inquire into literature–sensation relations across the mind–body–thing–space–time continuum that informed and formed modern Japanese literary works. These relations may be represented in the texts, though they do not have to be as long as they are discernible as formative through sources (primary or secondary—the latter not in themselves but to enhance the quality of exploration of the former).

Deadline for manuscript
submissions:

closed (31 December 2022)

mdpi.com/si/114986

Special Issue