Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Psych is an international, peer-reviewed, open access journal that publishes original articles, reviews, research notes, and short communications in a broad field of psychiatric sciences and psychology. It links several disciplines, including clinical neuroscience, medical science, linguistics, anthropology, sociology, philosophy, biology, religious studies and more.

Editor-in-Chief

Prof. Dr. Thomas E. Schläpfer

Aims

Our aim is to encourage scientists to publish their experimental and theoretical research relating to natural sciences, social sciences and humanities in as much detail as possible in order to promote scientific predictions and impact assessments of global change and development. Full experimental and methodical details must be provided so that the results can be reproduced.

Scope

There are, in addition, three unique features of this journal:

- Manuscripts regarding research proposals and research ideas are welcome.
- Electronic files and software regarding the full details of the calculations and experimental procedures, if unable to be published in a normal way, can be deposited as supplementary material.
- We also accept manuscripts with regard to research projects financed with public funds in order to communicate these to a broader audience.

The scope of Psych includes (but is not limited to):

- Neuropsychology
- Cognitive Psychology
- Educational Psychology
- Clinical Psychology
- Social Psychology
- Developmental Psychology
- Psychological Research and Methods
- Psychometrics and Educational Measurement
- Psychiatry
