Message from the Guest Editors

With the aim of opening up the debate on how fashion brands can tackle these issues, in this Special Issue, we aim to publish state-of-the-art research concerning sustainability in fashion brands. We encourage submissions discussing the results of real-life applications of sustainable solutions into fashion companies to show the feasibility of sustainable approaches, and on (but not exclusively) as well as research on sustainable supply chain management in the fashion industry, the measurement of sustainable performance in fashion supply chains and fashion brands, the presence of a circular economy in the fashion industry, the alignment of design and sustainable supply chain management in fashion brands, the development of sustainable marketing policies, and the management of knowledge and innovation as drivers of economic, social, and environmental sustainability in fashion brands.
