Message from the Guest Editors

The aim of this Special Issue is to collect the most current and advanced knowledge researchers are producing on canine nervous system tumors, addressing pathologic mechanisms, morphological and genetic diagnosis, and prognostic and therapeutic novel managements.

Original research articles and reviews are welcomed, especially focusing on (but not limited to):

- epidemiology;
- imaging;
- neuropathology: morphology; immunohistochemistry; prognostic markers; immuno-oncology;
- genetic;
- prognosis and biological behavior;
- advanced therapy and treatment response.

We look forward to receiving your contributions.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

Veterinary Sciences (ISSN 2306-7381) is an international and interdisciplinary scholarly open access journal that aims at publishing research in all fields of veterinary medicine in a democratic way. We encourage scientists to publish their original research articles, reviews, communications, and short notes in as much detail as possible. Articles submitted that involve subjecting animals to unnecessary pain or suffering will not be accepted, and all articles must be submitted with the necessary ethical approval (please refer to the Ethical Guidelines for more information).
