Message from the Guest Editor

Dear colleagues,

The scope of this Special Issue is environment and ecosystems research for natural waters, including lakes, lagoons, oceans, reservoirs, and rivers. The scope includes, but is not limited to, (1) occurrence, distribution, and fate of organic pollutants, heavy metals, and microplastics in natural waters; (2) eutrophication, ecosystem, ecological regime shift; (3) sedimentary records for environment and ecosystems of natural waters; (4) cycling and burial of contaminants, and C, N, and P in natural waters; (5) influences of climate change on environment and ecosystems of natural waters; (6) the interactions among contaminants, eutrophication, ecosystem, and climate change.

Message from the Editor-in-Chief

In the context of global changes, the sustainable management of water cycles, going from global and regional water cycles to urban, industrial and agricultural water cycles, plays a very important role on the water resources and on their relationships with food, energy, biodiversity, ecosystem functioning and human health. Water invites authors to provide innovative original full articles, critical reviews and timely short communications and to propose special issues devoted to new technological and scientific domains and to interdisciplinary approaches of the water cycles. We ensure a critical review process and a quick turnaround between submission and final decision.

Author Benefits

Open Access: free for readers, with article processing charges (APC) paid by authors or their institutions.

High Visibility: indexed within Scopus, SCIE (Web of Science), Ei Compendex, GEOBASE, GeoRef, PubAg, AGRIS, CAPlus / SciFinder, Inspec, and other databases.

Journal Rank: JCR - Q2 (Water Resources) / CiteScore - Q1 (Water Science and Technology)
